Redevelopment standard is 50%, no? Would be interested in how providing treatment from the first inch over half the parcel would compare, in terms of P and cost, to treating some lesser amount across the full acreage. What does your gut say?

Hi Julie. Sorry I missed your call. We are aware of the BMP curves, but had not considered using a different rainfall amount for WQTS and Rev outside the impaired waters – good food for thought. Though, if we are going to make them do less, we could also impose just the redevelopment standard. Happy to catch up at your convenience. Thanks. -Padraic
