

Having known Dickson Corbett since he became a neighbor while he was in Law School, we became good friends. We shared his dog while he spent his time studying, as well as after graduation and began his career as a lawyer. During this period, he took time out to marry his fiancée, which I was privileged to perform as a local Justice of the Peace. Of course, we had the dog while they went off on their honeymoon. Life settled down until they decided to purchase a home in Chelsea, so we didn't see as much of each other.

As a Guardian ad Litem, I would see Mr. Corbett during the numerous hearings that I attended in the Chelsea Court. All was very professional, which meant that all worked out the way the law required. Regrettably, COVID changed everything, so I no longer had a chance to see him.

Some days ago, I read in the newspaper that Mr. Corbett had been appointed as a Judge for the state court system and I must admit that I firmly agreed with the Governor's decision. The citizens of the state of Vermont will have an intelligent and sensible representative in the Judicial System. I heartily recommend his appointment.

Sincerely, Joshua Powers
