Subject: Toxin reform -

My name is John LeBourveau and I have been a Vermonter for over 50 years.

I am encouraged that S.239 passed the Senate and is in Committee in the House. However, we need to pass comprehensive toxic chemical legislation that identifies and phases out chemicals of concern from the marketplace as a whole. The most recent news regarding the proposed policy indicates that the bill would only apply to those manufacturers that sell children's products in the State of Vermont. We need a bill that will give the state authority to phase out all toxic chemicals from consumer products sold Vermont. This seems so obvious that it's hard to image why anyone would argue against it. Especially if you were raising a family in this state.

Please consider a position to make Vermont healthier and safer and hopefully others will soon follow.

Thank you, John LeBourveau
