Rep. Berry of Manchester explained his vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

I voted no. We live in a culture where we give over our power to experts. We trust experts in finance and banking, with religion with education, with food production, and on and on. We have just given away our power again, trusting the medical establishment and their “experts” to make our choices.”

Rep. Copeland-Hanzas of Bradford explained her vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

The debate we have had here today has centered around increasing our vaccination rates. We all want to improve our vaccination rates for the good of all Vermonters.

We narrowly missed the finest and best opportunity we would have to do that and have instead chosen the blunt instrument of eliminating the philosophical exemption.
Current law allows doctors and school nurses an annual check in with fearful or misinformed parents and allows for education and understanding to bring more children towards full vaccination.

Isolating fearful parents into home schooling or choosing the religious exemption does nothing to protect an unvaccinated person.”

Rep. Dame of Essex explained his vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

If the final barrier between me and the government is not this thin layer of skin - then what is?”

Rep. Donahue of Northfield explained her vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

Three years ago I voted yes, because we very much need to protect our children by maximizing our immunization levels. This year I realized that there was a better way to achieve this critical goal. We should not be taking this more heavy-handed method unnecessarily and in haste.”

Rep/ Kitzmiller of Montpelier explained his vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

I have listened carefully to the voices of my constituents, who seem to be split nearly evenly on the philosophical exemption. If I were in a debate contest, I could argue either position equally well.

There is something deep in the core of my being, though, and it simply will not allow me to vote to remove a parent’s right to make this serious decision on what is in the best interest of their child.

Thus, I must vote ‘No’.”

Rep. Mrowicki of Putney explained his vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

I voted no to maintain the right to judiciously choose and because for many, like me, the philosophical is no different from a religious choice and deserves commensurate respect.”

Rep. Strong of Albany explained her vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:
As my constituent said, ‘Where there is risk there must be choice. In a body that prides itself on choice, we just took away this precious option of choice from concerned parents who are seeking the best interests of their children.’

Rep. Till of Jericho explained his vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

I vote yes. Nothing in this amendment forces a parent to vaccinate their child. I vote to protect children and adults in our schools who are especially vulnerable to these dangerous vaccine preventable diseases as well as to protect younger siblings at home who are too young to be vaccinated and who are at extreme risk from these diseases.”

Rep. Troiano of Stannard explained his vote as follows:

:”Mr. Speaker:

I voted no. Virtually all of the people who contacted me were in favor of protection choice. These were people I know for years, friends. They wanted choice. I voted no.”

Rep. Wright of Burlington explained his vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

I voted no. Vaccination rates do need to come up. But elimination of the philosophical exemption does not guarantee that. Many Vermont schools’ immunization rates are where we need them to be, including most Burlington schools. We needed to focus our efforts on the schools’ rates that are too low. We also needed to listen to all voices and concerns. We failed at that today.”

Rep. Yantachka of Charlotte explained his vote as follows:

“Mr. Speaker:

I have been torn to the very last second on how to vote. But we had an opportunity to chart a middle course but rejected it narrowly. I vote no because I feel like I need to support those parents whose children have had adverse reactions but have not been sufficiently heard in terms of medical exemptions.”
