Whereas, the future vitality of greater Rutland as a hub of economic growth and prosperity is dependent, in part, on the area attracting and retaining young professionals interested in building their careers locally, and

Whereas, young professionals must feel welcomed in greater Rutland and committed to remaining for the long term, and

Whereas, recognizing the need to promote greater Rutland as a desirable place for young professionals to establish their careers, local residents have created initiatives intended to meet this objective, and

Whereas, initial efforts were started through groups known as RutBusters and Local Share, and

Whereas, in July 2013, some of the participants in these groups established Rutland Young Professionals (RYP) as a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization, and

Whereas, the mission of RYP is “to engage with our community, create social and professional networking opportunities and work to build a Rutland area that attracts and retains young professionals,” and

Whereas, RYP sponsors events that are intended to offer young professionals interesting and productive networking opportunities, and

Whereas, the monthly RYP mixer focuses on a special location or guest speaker and offers attendees a chance to learn more about the greater Rutland community and to meet individuals with similar interests, and

Whereas, RYP also organizes one-time events, including the 2015 Rutland City Mayoral Debate held at the College of St. Joseph, and

Whereas, the organization has begun an exciting partnership with Castleton Downtown, a Castleton College community and business outreach center, and

Whereas, today, April 29, 2015, members of RYP are visiting the State House to see the lawmaking process in action, now therefore be it
