

Greetings! I wish to express my great displeasure that the House Judiciary Committee is even spending any time on the above-referenced bill. It is my understanding that the provisions of this bill are already the law of the land. The suggestion that this bill is needed because the Federal government does not prosecute these cases is ridiculous. If that is indeed the case, discussions should take place between our state government officials and our senior senator in Washington. After all, he was the long time leader of the Senate judiciary committee and is the current ranking democrat on the committee. To pass duplicate legislation is simply a waste of time and money. Additionally, it is no secret that this entire movement pushing this bill is funded by New Yorker Michael Bloomberg and his anti-gun cronies. Perhaps they should get their own high crime states in order before they come trying to tell us how to live!
