- Code of Federal Regulations
 - “If a marketer generates renewable electricity but sells renewable energy certificates for all of that electricity, it would be DECEPTIVE for the marketer to represent, directly or by implication, that it uses renewable energy.” [16 C.F.R. §260.15(d)]

- The operation of the renewable energy market relies heavily on the expectation of ALL market participants that these certificates have NOT BEEN COUNTED ... TWICE [Federal Trade Commission].
