

DAVID A BARRA practiced in Essex Junction at the Law Offices of David A Barra, PLC, where he focused on litigation and municipal law. Prior to opening his own firm, Mr. Barra was in partnership at the same location since 1993. Before that, he was a partner at the law firm of Paul, Frank + Collins, Inc.

Mr. Barra graduated from Williams College, cum laude with a double major in English and History (with honors). He earned his Juris Doctor degree from Georgetown University Law Center.

Mr. Barra was admitted to practice law in Vermont in 1982. He was later admitted in New Hampshire and the United States District Court. Mr. Barra argued several matters in the Vermont Supreme Court and the United States Courts of Appeal for the 2nd and 4th Circuits. He was a member of the Chittenden County and Vermont Bar Associations and served on the VBA Alternative Dispute Resolution and Municipal Law committees. He is a former chair of the VBA Young Lawyers Section.

Mr. Barra is a long time soccer referee at the high school and college levels. He has been the United States Soccer Federation State Referee Administrator for Vermont and the Vermont Interscholastic Soccer Association's representative to the National Interscholastic Soccer Association, and is the current president of the Vermont Soccer Officials Association. He has been an instructor, assessor, mentor and friend of hundreds of Vermont soccer referees, young and old.
