Presentation to the House Committee on Appropriations

Intent and Impact

Historically, policy has been made based on the needs and preferences of people in dominant groups, which has created disparate impacts for marginalized groups.

Further, some well-meaning policies are intended to be neutral, but end up having disparate negative impacts for vulnerable groups. Sometimes these impacts are foreseeable, other times they are not.

Intent and Impact

Vermont recognizes that in failing to protect our most vulnerable from the impact of our policies and programs, we are only hurting ourselves.

One crucial defense against disparate impacts of policies and programs is to conduct Equity Impact Assessments (EIAs) prior to budgetary or programmatic decisions that will impact communities.

Equity Impact Assessment Overview

- Systematic examination of how different marginalized groups will likely be affected by a proposed action or decision.
- Used to minimize unanticipated adverse consequences in proposed policies, institutional practices, programs, plans and budgetary decisions. Reduces risk of discrimination complaints.
- Maximizes investments and staffing by anticipating needs, benefits, and harms.
- Best conducted during the decision-making process, prior to enacting new proposals. They are used to inform decisions, much like environmental impact statements, fiscal impact reports, and workplace risk assessments.

STATE OF VERMONT
EQUITY IMPACT ASSESSMENT TOOL

The State of Vermont is committed to advancing equity for all those who live, work, play, and learn in Vermont. Through data-informed program design and careful consideration of compounded historical inequity, agencies across the state can craft budgetary and programmatic proposals that align with the State's values and meet individual and shared goals.

A STATE OF VERMONT EQUITY INITIATIVE

SUPPORTING LOCAL ACTION TO ADVANCE EQUITY

IDEAL Vermont

“IDEAL” stands for Inclusion, Diversity, Equity, Action, Leadership.

Through this statewide initiative, the State will play a convening and assistive role for municipalities seeking to advance equity through policy and knowledge-sharing.

Member municipalities must opt in to join and will be held to a high standard to ensure genuine commitment among the cohort.

ADVANCING OUR VALUES

Centering Equity

As part of their growth, municipalities around the state and the country are recognizing the need to prioritize equity and social justice. Already, dozens of Vermont's communities have taken steps to be more inclusive.

The State's Role

SUPPORTING UNIFIED LOCAL ACTION

Preemption & Curtailment

Many crucial policy decisions that fuel inequity are handled at the local level, limiting the role the State can play in leading local change.

Different On-Ramps

Each of Vermont's municipalities enters this work at a unique time and with a unique understanding of the subject matter. Shared understanding is key.

Strength in Numbers

Municipal leaders often feel alone in equity efforts, not knowing other towns are on similar journeys. Coalitions build strength.

Varied Resources

Municipalities have different levels of access to information, staff, volunteers, ideas, funding, and other necessary inputs.

Our Communities Are Ready

HEARING THE COMMUNITY'S CALL

Jeanette L.

RUTLAND

“Even if we could just have a space where we meet occasionally, maybe quarterly, that would be a big help.”

Jaime C.

PUTNEY

“How do I support interested folks in our state about how to govern at the town level with an equity framework?”

Jenn M.

HARDWICK

“I heard you might be considering a pilot program for towns that are ready to tackle equity & inclusion & I wanted to give my plug for choosing us.”

Tracy D.

ESSEX

“We need a forum or listserv or space to discuss and gain others' experiences, for networking & sharing what has & hasn't worked in other communities.”
