Brady Act Requirements

The Brady Handgun Violence Prevention Act of 1993 (Brady Act), Public Law 103-159, was signed into law in November 1993, requiring Federal Firearms Licensees (FFLs) to request background checks on individuals attempting to purchase a firearm. The permanent provisions of the Brady Act, which went into effect on November 30, 1998, required the U.S. Attorney General to establish the National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS) that any FFL may contact by telephone or by other electronic means for information to be supplied immediately on whether receipt of a firearm by a prospective transferee would violate Section 922 (g) or (n) of Title 18, United States Code, or state law.

The FBI developed the NICS through a cooperative effort with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) and local and state law enforcement agencies. The NICS is designed to respond to background check inquiries to provide FFLs with an immediate response as to whether the transfer of a firearm can proceed or if more research must be completed to make a determination if the transfer would violate state or federal law.

The NICS, which is operated by the FBI Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) Division's NICS Section, is a national name check system that queries available records in the National Crime Information Center (NCIC), the Interstate Identification Index (III), and the NICS Indices to determine if prospective purchasers are disqualified from receiving firearms.

Voluntary Appeal File

A final rule was published by the Department of Justice in The Federal Register, outlining the following changes. Per Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 25.9(b)(1), (2), and (3), the NICS Section must destroy all identifying information on allowed transactions within 24 hours of notification to the FFL. If a potential purchaser is delayed or denied a firearm successfully appeals the decision, the NICS Section cannot retain a record of the overturned appeal. If the record is not able to be updated, the purchaser continues to be denied or delayed, and if that individual appeals the decision the documentation must be resubmitted on every subsequent appeal.

For this reason, the Voluntary Appeal File (VAF) has been established. This process permits applicants to request the NICS maintain information about themselves in the VAF to prevent future erroneous denials or extended delays of the transfer of a firearm, explosive, or associated permit.

Application Process

Under this process, individuals have the option to supply the NICS Section with information such as name, date of birth, social security number, and any other identifying numbers using the VAF application included in this brochure to request entry into the file. The individual's signature under the applicant's statement is required to give the NICS Section permission to retain the information in this file. Documents that may clarify records or prove identity (e.g., fingerprint cards, court records, pardons, etc.) will be entered in the VAF along with the descriptive information from the application. This application, a set of rolled fingerprints and any supporting documentation should be sent to the following address:

Federal Bureau of Investigation
Criminal Justice Information Services Division
National Instant Criminal Background Check System
Voluntary Appeal File
Post Office Box 4278
Clarksburg, WV 26302-4278

After reviewing the application and fingerprint card and validating the materials submitted by the applicant, the NICS Section will enter successful applicants into the VAF. The applicant will be notified by mail if their application qualifies for entry into the VAF. Entry into the VAF will not automatically result in a proceed response on subsequent purchases. A complete NICS check is still required and will result in a denial if additional prohibitive information is discovered. The NICS Section is required to destroy any records submitted to the VAF upon written request of the individual. Additionally, if the NICS Section discovers a disqualifying record on the individual after their entry into the VAF, the NICS Section may remove the individual's information from the file.

Principal Purpose: The principal purpose of collecting the requested information is to allow the FBI to maintain information about you in the Voluntary Appeal File (VAF) for the purpose of preventing the future erroneous denial or extended delay by the NICS of a transfer of a firearm, explosive, or associated permit. You do not have to provide the requested information to the FBI; however, failure to provide the requested information may result in the FBI's inability to retain your information in the VAF which may, in turn, result in a future erroneous denial or extended delay of a transfer of a firearm, explosive, or associated permit.

Social Security Account Number (SSAN): Your SSAN is requested to keep records accurate because other people may have the same name and date of birth. Your SSAN will be used to verify your identity. You are not required to provide your SSAN and failure to provide your SSAN will not result in a denial of your VAF application. However, failure to provide your SSAN may result in an increase of time to process your VAF application or requests for additional information to verify your identity.

Under the Paperwork Reduction Act, a person is not required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB control number.
