January 20, 2021

AHS Budget Adjustment Overview

  - Child Development Division Subsidy Caseload;
- Continue to leverage Coronavirus Relief Funds for pandemic response

AHS FY21 BAA - Net Neutral - Backfill of CRF Indirects

- Backfill of unallowable Coronavirus Relief Fund Indirects;
- Public Assistance Cost Allocation Plans are federally required and approved processes for claiming administrative costs, including both direct and indirect administrative costs:
  - 100% of costs incurred have to be attributed to “benefitting objectives” (i.e., federal and state activities and programs);
  - Costs are attributed to different benefitting objectives using statistical methods defined in the agency’s Cost Allocation Plan;
  - All programs administered by the state public assistance agency must be included in its plan.
- Administrative costs can include direct and indirect costs:
  - Direct administrative costs are those that can be directly attributed to a specific benefitting program, such as a Division Director who oversees a particular federal program;
  - However, indirect administrative costs are associated with department-wide or agency-wide costs that benefit all programs managed under its umbrella, and as such, cannot be attributed directly to any one program. Therefore, indirect administrative costs are allocated among all benefitting programs overseen by higher-level executive-type employees.
