VERMONT's Education Pipeline

Our Class of 2012 Senior Survey findings show that we are losing human capital at every point along the path to higher education.

Four years after graduating from high school, 3.4 out of 10 Vermont students have earned a two- or four-year degree.

These numbers, however, vary considerably when we consider gender, first-generation status, academic preparation and geographic region.

VSAC Research Brief
August 2020

June College Student Survey During COVID-19

The onset of the COVID-19 epidemic has dramatically altered the higher education landscape, affecting students, their parents, and institutions. National surveys, conducted from March to May, reflected on students' intent for fall 2020 enrollment, reaction to online instruction, as well as the financial toll of the epidemic.¹ Economists were predicting record-breaking unemployment and estimating that as many as 100,000 Vermonters would apply for unemployment benefits, roughly one out of every three workers in the state. That being the case, it was very likely that parents of current and first-year college students would request appeals on schools' financial aid offers and the state's need-based student financial aid program, both of which are based on reported 2018 income, income earned more than a year before the pandemic. The pandemic's impact on employment rates might presage more families applying for student financial aid.

The Vermont Student Assistance Corp. (VSAC) is an instrumentality of the state, and the agency charged with administering student financial aid. In June (June 17-July 2), VSAC surveyed students who had completed the Free Application for Financial Student Aid (i.e., FAFSA applicants made up of rising high school seniors and returning college students) to answer a few key questions:

- Did students' fall plans change because of the COVID-19 pandemic?
- What was the nature of that change?
- What did students say about the effect on their enrollment plans if an institution were to move to virtual learning?

The second aim was to examine adverse economic effects, if any, on students' lives. We looked at these questions through an equity lens: gender, parental educational attainment (i.e., first- or second-generation), family/student income, and race. We have just completed data collection (July 23-August 5) on a second cohort of students to examine changes, if any, over time.

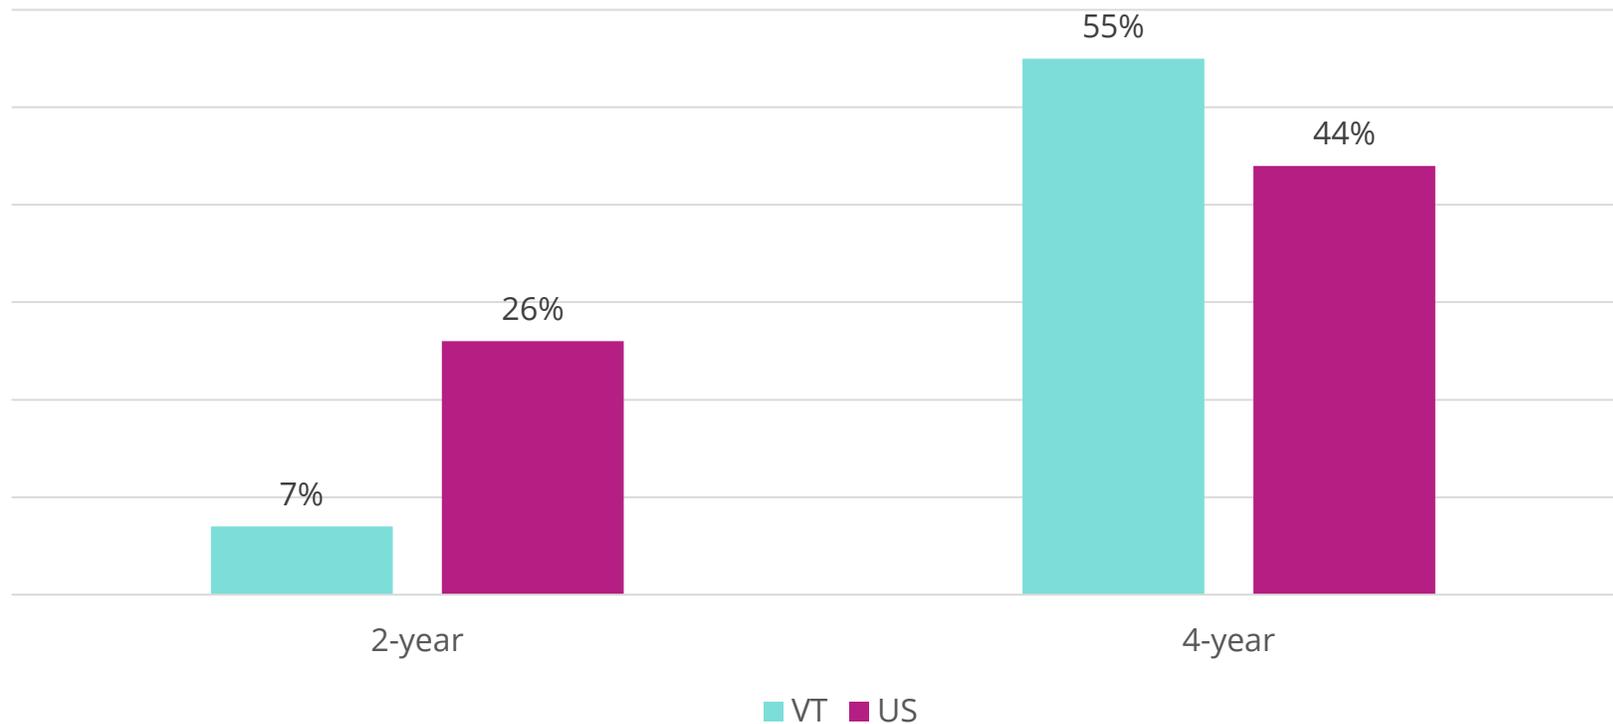

Key Findings

- Most students surveyed in June (whether first year or those returning to college) reported they planned to enroll in the fall of 2020. (Fig.1) There were no differences in plans for fall by gender, parent education, or race. However, independent students (6%) were more likely to report delaying or cancelling enrollment than dependent students (2%).

Plan	First-year	Returning College
Plan to enroll in fall	90.5%	84.6%
Plan to delay	4.2%	3.6%
Undecided	5.3%	9.8%

VSAC's FY22 request

These investments in Vermont's support to students and adults would result in an FY2022 base appropriation to VSAC of $22,478,588.

This request builds on our FY21 appropriation and includes:

- $1,900,000 for 802 Opportunity (new)
- $500,000 for Advancement Grant (renew)
- $300,000 for Aspirations Program (increased funding and new appropriation)

In addition, we request level funding of $85,000 for the Dual Enrollment Stipend Program.

802Opportunity: Free Tuition at CCV

VSAC requests $1.9 million to create a free tuition program, for students with family income of $50,000 or less

Impact: 30% of Vermont families have incomes of $50K or less

802Opportunity will open doors for students seeking:

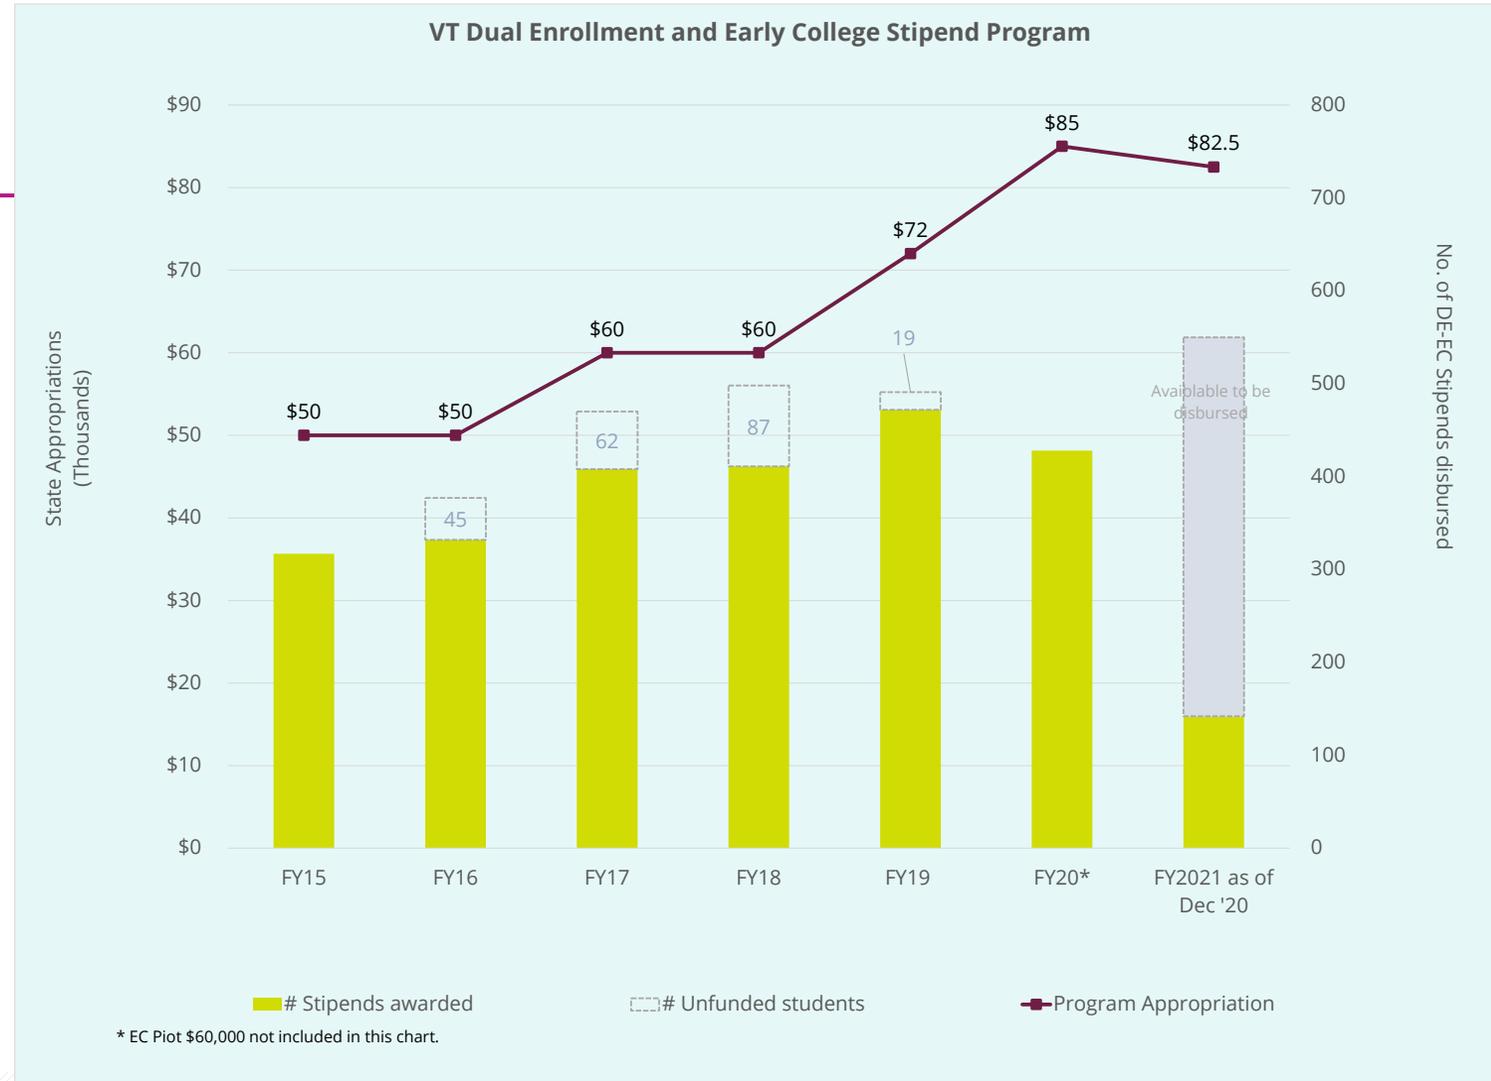

- professional certificate programs,
- an associate degree, and
- to transfer to four-year degree programs.

Dual Enrollment & Early College Stipend

- A need-based stipend for high school juniors and seniors who enroll in early college or on-campus dual enrollment classes.
- Awards $150 to cover the expenses of books, fees, and/or transportation
- This program's FY21 appropriation was reduced to $82,500.

To date:

- Dual enrollment stipend awards are holding steady compared to FY20.
- Early college stipends are down by 33% over the previous year, probably related to COVID-19.
