

Dear Senators,

It's obvious, Internet usage is on the rise, and newspaper print subscriptions are on the decline. It's time for Vermont's government to "get with the times." Citizens look forward to being able to look up notices online, anytime, rather than searching for the newspaper. This bill, S.174, is a win-win for both transparency and efficiency.

No government would be required to abandon print publication, but they may if they choose. They may stay with print in the newspapers. They may choose to do both. Local officials are elected locally, so we should expect them to be responsive to citizens' needs.

Sincerely,

Crea Lintilhac
