VERGENNES DOWNTOWN-BASIN MASTER PLAN

Over the past year, the City of Vergennes and the Addison County Regional Planning Commission have been developing a Master Plan for the Downtown and Basin. This project has been funded largely through a Strong Communities, Better Connections grant from the Vermont Agency of Transportation (VTTrans) and the Vermont Agency of Commerce & Community Development (ACCD).

What is the Master Plan supposed to do?

A master plan is a general plan that outlines the projects that a City would undertake over the next 10 to 20 years in order to achieve a shared community vision. The process for developing a master plan is typically led by a steering committee and involves gathering public input, identifying existing issues and opportunities, and recommending solutions to address the issues and achieve the vision. It is essentially a roadmap from Point A (existing conditions) to Point B (the envisioned scenario).

The Vergennes Downtown-Basin Master Plan is a direct outgrowth of the 2014 Vergennes Community Visit by the Vermont Council on Rural Development (VCRD) and has the following vision:

To realize the economic potential of Vergennes' assets by strengthening the connection between the Downtown and Otter Creek Basin, improving multi-modal opportunities, street design, and recreational opportunities.

Design concepts were demonstrated on Saturday, September 26, 2015.
