17 (h) ~~Review of rates and fees.~~

18 (1) Rate standards.

19 (A) Excessive. Rates are excessive if they are producing or are 20 likely to produce unreasonably high profits for the services provided, the 21 excess of revenue over expenses is not reasonably related to the financial

1 requirements of the provider, or expenses are unreasonable when compared to 2 like or similar services provided.

3 (B) Inadequacy: Rates are inadequate if they are insufficient to 4 sustain projected losses and expenses in the class or classes of business to 5 which they apply or the use of such rates has or, if continued, will have the 6 effect of substantially lessening competition or the tendency to create a 7 monopoly in any market.

8 (C) Unfair discrimination: Unfair discrimination exists if, after 9 allowing for practical limitations, price differentials fail to reflect equitably the 10 differences in expected losses and expenses. A rate is not unfairly 11 discriminatory because different premiums result for a class of residents with 12 like loss exposures but different expenses, or like expenses but different loss 13 exposures, ~~so long as~~ provided the rate equitably reflects the differences with 14 reasonable accuracy. This provision shall not prohibit a provider from 15 establishing a rate structure which subsidizes a portion of the units within a
