Representative Trevor Squirrell, Chair
Legislative Committee on Administrative Rules

Dear Representative Squirrell,

After reviewing the proposed rule, Legislative Counsel made VOSHA aware that both the annotated and clean text of the VOSHA rule submitted to LCAR for consideration (24-P15 - Vermont Occupational Safety and Health Administration/Improved Tracking of Workplace Injuries and Illnesses) contain errors.

In both documents, under 1904.41(a)(2), VOSHA had inadvertently included language that was deleted from the prior version of 1904.41(b)(1), which can be seen in the struck through version of that paragraph in the annotated document. The correct language for 1904.41(a)(2) is contained in both the annotated and clean text versions of 24-P15 as part of paragraph 1904.41(a)(1).

As a result, in the final version of the rule, VOSHA proposes to delete the incorrect language appearing in both the annotated and clean text versions and replace it with the correct version of 1904.41(a)(2), which will be moved from 1904.41(a)(1).

We hope this proposed change will not create confusion.

Sincerely,

~~Does every employer have to routinely submit this information to OSHA? No, only two categories of employers must routinely submit this information. First, if your establishment had 250 or more employees at any time during the previous calendar year, and this part requires your establishment to keep records, then you must submit the required information to OSHA once a year. Second, if your establishment had 20 or more employees but fewer than 250 employees at any time during the previous calendar year, and your establishment is classified in an industry listed in appendix A to this subpart, then you must submit the required information to OSHA once a year. Employers in these two categories must submit the required information by the date listed in paragraph (c) of this section of the year after the calendar year covered by the form (for example, 2019 for the 2018 form). If you are not in either of these two categories, then you must submit the information to OSHA only if OSHA notifies you to do so for an individual data collection.~~

No, only three categories of employers must routinely submit information from these forms. The first category is establishments that had 20–249 employees at any time during the previous calendar year, and are classified in an industry listed in appendix A to this subpart; establishments in this category must submit the required information from Form 300A to OSHA once a year. The second category is establishments that had 250 or more employees at any time during the previous calendar year, and are required by this part to keep records; establishments in this category must submit the required information from Form 300A to OSHA

The third category is establishments that had 100 or more employees at any time during the previous calendar year, and are classified in an industry listed in appendix B to this subpart; establishments in this category must also submit the required information from Forms 300 and 301 to OSHA once a year, in addition to the required information from Form 300A. Employers in these three categories must submit the required information by the date listed in paragraph (c) of this section of the year after the calendar year covered by the form (for example, 2024 for the 2023 form(s)). If your establishment is not in any of these three categories, then you must submit the information to OSHA only if OSHA notifies you to do so for an individual data collection.

How do I submit the information? You must submit the information electronically. OSHA will provide a secure website for the electronic submission of information. Do I have to submit information if my establishment is partially exempt from keeping OSHA injury and illness records? If you are partially exempt from keeping injury and illness records under §§ 1904.1 and/or 1904.2, then you do not have to routinely submit information under paragraphs (a)(1) and (2) of this section.
