To whom it may concern:

We are owners of a small farm in West Berlin and sell our vegetables year round at the Capital City Farmers Market. Like many other vendors at the market, our farm is a full-time career with roughly 70% of our income made at the Capital City Farmers Market. This market is vital to our business and many others throughout Vermont.

Because we rely on the market, we expect ample notice prior to any major changes. We have spent countless hours preparing for our upcoming growing season and have already begun planting seeds for the year. Following through with these plans will be necessary in order to support our family business through the coming year.

We hope that our community understands the tremendous value (both financial and cultural) of the Capital City Farmers Market, and that they honor the tireless efforts that our market manager and board members put towards making it run smoothly. A suitable location is essential, and we ask that you please do anything you can to support us in staying at 133 State Street.

Sincerely,
Mollie Podmore and Gus Griffin
