

This is a photo of the Tinmouth Channel taken from a drone during ITW's red ballon float, looking north. Canoeists and kayakers start at the far north end and would be headed south towards this structure.

Please remember the ballon was only 3 feet' wide – the lattice tower would be 10'.

